High School Lit Kits

Who said reading had to be a solitary sport?

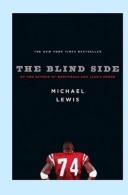

Chains

by Laurie Halse Anderson

Set in New York during the American Revolution, this gripping, well researched story delves into issues surrounding the treatment of slaves by Loyalist and Patriots alike. 30 copies, 1 playaway & reading guide.

High School Issues

From The Blind Side to Glass Castle these stories touch on lives affected by drug abuse, poverty, war, and teen pregnancy. 5 copies of each title, 40 books total.

SUNRISE OVER

FALLUJAH

The Hunger Games

by Suzanne Collins

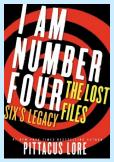

This post apocalyptic best seller is hard to put down. Teens compete for their lives in a televised competition.

30 copies.

WALTER

5 titles that span history and the globe, from the Civil War to the Iraq War, these books share a variety of stories about war. Titles include Sunrise Over Fallujah, Girl in Blue and Purple Heart. 5 titles, 40 books total.

Sci-Fi

Post-apocalyptic worlds and underwater dystopias, these books challenge readers to view what we have now and what we might become. Titles include Dark Life, Maze Runner and I Am Number Four. 8 titles, 40 books total.

Reserve a Kit: 384-3150 ext. 276

Middle School Lit Kits

Who said reading had to be a solitary sport?

Fantasy

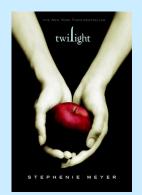

A box full of adventure. Each book is the beginning of a series, so if students find a title they like, it could be the start of a reading habit.

Includes popular reads such as The Lightning Thief, Artemis Fowl and Into the Wild, as well as a few less well known titles waiting to be discovered.

5 of each title, 40 books total.

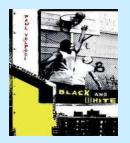

Horror

Why do you like to be scared?

This collection of books will help you indulge and explore some of the many ways we like to frighten ourselves and others. Titles include the ghostly tale of The Graveyard Book, the infamous Twilight, and Demon Keeper for a bit of dark humor. 5 copies of 8 different chilling reads.

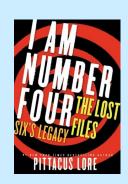

Middle School Issues

Stories about bullying, peer pressure, racism and life as a teenager with a disability. Titles include teen favorites such as Stargirl and Stuck in Neutral. 8 titles, 40 books total.

Sci-Fi

Post-apocalyptic worlds and underwater dystopias, these books challenge readers to view what we have now and what we might become. Titles include Dark Life, Maze Runner and I Am Number Four. 8 titles, 40 books total.

W C

Whatcom county

library system